

Be “Cloud Smart” with Modern Collaboration

Confidently Tear Down Collaboration Silos with Automated Information Governance

Collaboration used to mean leveraging disparate applications for chat, email, and file sharing with clear lines of information security and structure. Now, with collaborative solutions like Microsoft Teams and Microsoft 365, channels of communication are more integrated. “What goes where” and “Who has access” is increasingly unclear. Without proper user guidance, agencies are experiencing unsecured sprawl that continues to grow every day.

Add on top an alphabet soup of regulations including NAA, VERS, PSPF, and Essential 8, and you may start to wonder how your team’s limited resources will continue to move the mission forward while creating the right mix of collaboration and controls.

AvePoint’s proven IRAP (Information Security Registered Assessors Program) PROTECTED Assessed solutions will allow you to reach that last mile of security required in a digitally collaborative environment. Our capabilities:

Reduce risk with proactive membership and policies enforcement

Working in concert with your information governance requirements, our solutions give you the ability to implement your framework into Microsoft 365, minimising your agency’s risk level in exposed information down to the workspace.

Increase scalability with automated IT services

Decrease time to value for your users by giving them the autonomy to provision a new workspace for an operation, while still ensuring that policy and compliance needs are met. You can also give each division of your agency the power to administrate in their own way, even when you have many divisions on a centralised tenant.

Align compliance and data retention

Ensure your regulatory compliance is being met within each Teams and Groups by implementing data retention processes that is not end-user dependent. By implementing lifecycle management and retention policies into Microsoft 365, you can efficiently deploy updates and new policies without interrupting the agency.

“ AvePoint tools have allowed us to improve compliance while decreasing administrative burden. ”
